Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates – We are pleased to announce a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between Weldaloy Specialty Forgings and Mirage Aircraft Services (MAS) has been signed. MAS is composed of aviation professionals in the United Arab Emirates, and they work to support aviation suppliers with the goal of supplying quality finished parts and services. Their customer base services both military and commercial aviation, and maintenance providers.

The MOU allows Weldaloy to pursue supplying MAS with finished goods to support their projects. This agreement will help expand Weldaloy's global presence in the aviation and military and defense sectors.

About Weldaloy Specialty Forgings

Weldaloy Specialty Forgings is a world class manufacturer, with nearly 75 years of experience in the forging, heat treating, and machining of specialty metals. We produce open die forged parts, semi-closed die parts, and rolled rings in a variety of metals, such as includes nickel-based superalloys, titanium alloys, copper alloys, and aluminum alloys. We work with several key American companies in many business sectors, including electronics, power generation, aerospace, and military and defense. We aim to forge meaningful relationships with our customers, our employees and our community through the development of advanced manufacturing of specialty-forged products.
